

Poznan University of Medical Sciences invites you to

When Things Go Wrong

Conference & Workshop exploring the reasons, results, and remedies for medical errors

As in every area of life, errors in medical practice are bound occur. Our challenge is to understand why they happen, how best to reduce them, and how to support everyone involved - patients and professionals. Join us at this conference where through interactive presentations and small group workshops, a panel of highly experienced clinicians will be facing up to this challenge.
